PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Aspirations of becoming a designer from a young age, with a passion for art and construction, and later, an extended interest in the built form, primarily the connection of nature and the built environment and how they can be moulded in unison to complement an ever-growing society. Proficient in CAD design as well as model making, with a strong background in drawing and sketching. I am excited by the prospect of enhancing my understanding of the field of design and architecture through hard work and creativity, driven by a desire to leave a positive impact on the world. Open-minded and increasingly focused on a desire to learn, creating a drive to work with others and a commitment to achieve desired goals.

WORK EXPERIENCE

2021 - Present

Nettletontribe Architects

Office Junior, Student of Architecture, Graduate Architect

During my 2 years at Nettletontribe, I have had the opportunity to work across a range of sectors with a focus on Industrial, residential and commercial projects.

I have been able to work in both large team settings and individually on projects from early phase feasibility through to construction documentation.

During my time at Nettletontribe, I was an active member of social sport teams including Football and Volleyball.

2018 - 2022

Bunnings Warehouse

Builders Department Employee

I Operated in both the Tool Shop and Timber Yard offering assistance and expertise on a wide range of products for customers, from one stop DIYer's to experienced tradesman. A fortunate experience before starting a career in Architecture.

VOLUNTEER WORK

2018 - 2018

The Cardoner Project

Volunteer English Teacher

Myself and a small group of similarly aged friends travelled to Nepal to live, teach, and serve the communities in the South of the Country. Operating as an English teacher and teacher's aide in the Sindulhi province of Ratamata.

I also traveled to North East Sri Lanka to operate as a High School Teacher in Trincomalee. Visting also the South of Thailand to assist in running a Summer English School in Surat Thani.
